CONDITION NOT SERIOUS.

Alarming reports have been printed regarding the serious condition of Henry M. Hoyt, the state food administrator. A wire sent by him to Judge French last night states that he is feeling fine and will be on the job again after a few days. Mr. Hoyt was not paralyzed, but he was worn out by his duties in the apex litigation following the strenuous times he has been having with the state food control.

HEAVY WORK PLANNED ON HASBROUCK DEFENSE COUNCILS WILL BE ORGANIZED

The Tonopah Hasbrouck Mining company has been incorporated to take over the principal part of the property that formerly belonged to the Hasbrouck Gold Mining Company, a corporation, located in the Tonopah Gold Mountain district, Esmeralda county, state of Nevada.

The development on this property, outside of the surface and prospect work, which was done in the early days of that district, consists of a tunnel about 900 feet long at the present time. At a distance of approximately 500 feet from the mouth of the tunnel, and at a depth of about 250 feet from the surface, No. 1 ledge was crosscut. The additional work on this No. 1 ledge consists of about 1500 feet of drifts, raises, winzes and crosscuts. This additional work has opened up several thousand tons of fair grade milling ore. There has also been shipped from this same ledge somewhere in the neighborhood of 1000 tons of ore, which averaged $14 to $20 per ton assay value, when silver was 50 cents per ounce, and the ratio of gold and silver in this ore is approximately ninety ounces of silver to one ounce of gold. There is also on this tunnel level in the same ledge a face of ore that averages at the present time between $10 and $50 per ton. This tunnel at the present time is being extended in a northerly direction to crosscut another ledge that crops on the surface. This ledge is a brecciated quartz, similar in character on the surface to the ledge that has already been cut on the Tonopah Divide, in the same district, and there is reason to expect good results when this front were threatened from the rear for Austria was crumbling under the punishment administered by the forces of General Cadorna. There are officers here who believe that the war would have been virtually over now had Cadorna's great effort been made with the full support of the British and French behind it. Failing that, it was swept back and the enemy given the best military position he had occupied since his defeat of his drive in 1914 at Paris. Army officers here profess complete ignorance of the plan of campaign mapped out by the Versailles supreme war council and upon which Mr. Lloyd George unhesitatingly staked the survival of his government. In boldy challenging parliament, it was pointed out, the premier knew beyond question that the defeat of his ministry and the consequent withdrawal of Great Britain from adherence to the full purpose of the Versailles council meant that no highly organized allied offensive could be looked forward to this year.

The premier's statement did not throw any light on the plan of action agreed upon at Versailles. His words apparently were carefully weighed to prevent any inkling of that plan from being drawn from them. The promptness of his challenge to his critics, however, and the unreserved nature of that challenge was interpreted here as a hint at great events soon to come.

Taken into connection with President Wilson's recent statement that 1918 would be the decisive year and the repeated warnings from the western front that a great German offensive is imminent there, the proceedings in London are regarded as highly significant. It has been asserted officially and unofficially that the allies still have a preponderance of men and guns on the western front and the belief here is that the allied council would not be content to await the blow of the enemy.

The explanation of the premier of the rejection of General Sir William Robertson's proposal to place a subordinate officer as Great Britain's representative on the supreme council probably throws light upon the purpose of the Washington government in continuing General Tasker Bliss, its representative at Versailles, as chief of staff, although all his functions in that capacity are in process of transfer to Major General Peyton C. Marsh.

CAUSE OF DELAY.

The lateness of the train from the coast this morning was due to the breaking of a sideroad on a Mallet locomotive in the snowdrifts near the summit. There was a delay of five hours, but half that time was made up before Tonopah was reached. Passengers say that the snow is deep on the mountains and that when they left it was still falling heavily.

leads to crosscut. It is a large ledge and about fifty feet in width on the surface and crops for a distance of about 300 feet in length. There has never been any development done on this ledge outside of a couple of surface trenches which are only three feet to four feet in depth and which showed small values in both silver and gold, principally silver.

There is also a shaft on this same property 400 feet in depth. At 180 feet there is a crosscut extended to the north that cuts another brecciated quartz ledge, that is twenty feet in width, and carries small values, principally silver. This ledge was crosscut a short distance below the cap rock, and as there has never been any crosscutting done in that direction from the bottom of the shaft, the plan of the company is to run a crosscut from the bottom of this shaft to crosscut this ledge again, which will give them 220 feet more depth on it, and from recent developments in this district that depth should be sufficient to prove up this ledge.

The company is carrying on development work at the present time. Every indication points to the fact that with the development already done, and that which is contemplated, this property should give very satisfactory results, as there are three well-defined ledges, and only one of them has been developed to any extent; the other two, which are really the most promising, and are of the same character as the ledges that are developing so satisfactorily in this district, have not as yet been crosscut at depth or developed.

FRENCH COLLECTION WILLED TO BERLIN

(By Associated Press.) BERNE, Feb. 20.—The world's greatest stamp collection, at present in Paris, and valued at $2,500,000, has been bequeathed to the Berlin Postal museum. It was the property of Philip la Renerie, a wealthy Frenchman, who died at his home in Switzerland last year. It is supposed that the will was framed before the war, as there is no reason to believe that the owner had German sympathies in the present conflict.

The Berlin Postal museum has already one of the finest stamp collections in existence, but this bequest, if the French courts allow it to stand, will put it out of reach of any rivals. La Renerie commenced his collection in 1864, and spent upon it the greater part of a large fortune. It includes the only known specimen of the 1854 1-cent British Gules, the most prized stamp in the world, said to be valued at $25,000. The collection has never been exhibited, and it was always supposed that the owner intended to leave it to the city of Paris.

HIT BY THE WAR.

(By Associated Press.) LEYDEN, Netherlands, Feb. 20.—No longer will the famous road to Haarlem present an uninterrupted vista of flowering bulbs, when spring comes. The bulb business, which has been seriously hit by the war, offers such poor prospects that many growers have partly abandoned bulb planting and have taken to vegetable raising instead. Extensive vegetable drying sheds have arisen alongside the canals where in previous years banks of multi-colored tulips and hyacinths delighted the eye. So far, the facilities for drying vegetables, especially cabbages and carrots, are limited to about 600 tons a week.

DOCK MEN STRIKE.

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Nine hundred longshoremen and dock workers employed by the Southern Pacific Steamship company failed to report for work today, renewing the strike which is under adjustment by the shipping board and the labor adjustment board.

DEFENSE COUNCILS WILL BE ORGANIZED

EVERY COUNTY IN THE STATE TO BE VISITED BY A COMMITTEE.

A quartette consisting of Governor Emmet D. Boyle, ex-Governor T. L. Oddie, H. A. Lemmon and A. Grant Miller will leave Reno Wednesday on a tour of the entire state of Nevada for the purpose of organizing a county council of national defense in every county, with headquarters at the various county seats. The four organizers have been commissioned for the work by the state council of national defense, which has headquarters at Reno, says the Gazette.

Under the plan laid down by the council of national defense the respective state councils have been urged to form councils in every county, which, in turn, will be expected to carry the organization down to the smaller political subdivisions, towns and school districts.

The first meeting of the representatives of the state council of national defense will be held at Winnemucca on the 21st, after which they will hold meetings at Elko on the 22nd, and Ely on the 24th. Immediately following they will visit Eureka, Austin and Fallon and then take up the organization of the western and southern counties, meeting dates for which will be given out later.

RIVERS AND HARBORS BILL.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The rivers and harbors bill, carrying $19,227,000, the smallest in years, was introduced by the house committee today. It was decided that citizens of Crescent City, Cal., should be permitted to spend $20,000 on their harbor, with the understanding that the government will complete the work after the war. The estimated entire project will cost $490,000.

FRIENDS IN NEED.

M. J. Scanlan, former senator from Nye county, Socialist, went to Goldfield today to defend R. Martin, a Socialist, on the charge of sedition. Senator Scanlan was engaged here, associated with Justice of the Peace Dunseath, likewise a Socialist, in endeavoring to clear Al Shidder, a Socialist, against whom the charge of sedition had been brought.

AMUSEMENTS

AT THE BUTLER.

Exquisite Emmy Whelen, one of the cleverest and daintiest stars of motion pictures, is the principal attraction in "The Outsider" today. This fascinating feature is a screen version of the novel, "Nobody," by the popular author, Louis Joseph Vance. It has been arranged for the screen by Charles A. Taylor, himself a famous playwright and motion picture expert, who has taken full advantage of its dramatic possibilities. "The Outsider" deals in beauty and thrills. One of the handsomest private homes in America was used as the background for "The Outsider" and it provided the ideal setting for the star's dainty charms. Emmy Whelen has one of the most attractive vehicles she has had in a long time. Her role is that of pretty Sally Manvers, who becomes disgusted with the dreary life of a salesgirl in a department store. She determines to become an adventurer, and earn her living by her wits, as many hangers-on in society do. She succeeds beyond her wildest dreams. Discovering some society people stealing their own jewelry in order to collect the burglary insurance, she "has them in her power," and proceeds to make use of the knowledge. Then she herself is accused of stealing jewelry. Three men fall in love with her. Two of them are scoundrels. The third is the "right man," though he has some difficulty in persuading Sally to believe this fact. Also Hearst-Pathé News.

Tomorrow, Vivian Martin, in "Little Miss Optimist."
